CJ Rosenbaum, Esq., founded AmazonSellersLawyer after learning that Amazon can suspend sellers with no notice and there were no lawyers to turn to for help. Anthony Famularo, Esq., was made a partner in the firm after managing a team of paralegals and obtaining hundreds of reinstatements. Every seller's suspension is addressed by lawyers and a team of college educated paralegals in their New York office. Every Plan of Action is drafted after conferencing the issues with the suspended seller and the team. None of the work on your account is outsourced..

Scott treats every situation as unique, doesn't use templates, and takes a collaborative approach to reinstatements. He believes sellers need to know what to do and how to do it and should be involved in the process so they can gain a better understanding of how they ended up suspended and become better equipped to prevent recurrence. He is committed to educating the sellers he works with so they know how to avoid becoming suspended again.
